Gearing up

SAM J BASCH

Finland-based Authorities Gear/Total Sec (Stand N10-191) is showcasing some of its novel products at DSEI this week.

The buckle replacement case keeps a pair of handcuffs in a pouch on the centreline of the waist, while acting as a belt buckle. Occupying the 'wasted space' of a traditional buckle, it also works much better. A four-layer Velcro fastening ensures tensile strength and the belt tension can be adjusted in seconds without taking off the belt.

The company's rotating holder system is similarly a most useful innovation. Rotating through 360° without removing the holder or requiring separate tools, it can be placed in 11 different positions according to the user's needs. The adjustment mechanism is extremely thin, lightweight and integrated in the fastening to keep the holder as close to the body as possible. The holder can be attached to equipment belts and to PALS/MOLLE fasteners.
